All human beings should try to learn before they die what they are running from, and to, and why.

President’s Message

The HOLIDAYS are over with all the joy of parties and family visits with only the gifts, laundry, and leftovers as reminders.
And the coughs, sniffles, and aches from the plagues we have all shared with each other. I can’t identify the source of my suffering or who I have passed it along to, but I know many of us have been given an opportunity to extend our antibody defenses. I’m sure my personal plague will have infected others who will pass it on to still more; not just here but all over the country and maybe the whole world. We should all be proud to have had an opportunity for such lavish sharing.

But, I know from past attacks, that when it’s over, the real memories of the past few weeks will be of the happy visits and good times.

Happy New Year!
