The most valuable possession you can own is an open heart. The most powerful weapon you can be is an instrument of peace.

Carlos Santana

President's Message

I've been ruminating about happiness lately. There are lots of philosophical theories about its nature and instructive seminars abound on how to find it. We even have it enshrined in America's founding documents as "the pursuit of happiness."

My belief is that happiness isn't something you pursue for its own sake. It either already resides within you or it arises when you concentrate on activities, things or people you love. I've never known anyone who is focused on his or her own "stuff" to be truly happy. However, introspection and meditation can often bring peace and that, too, is a form of happiness. No matter how you achieve it, here's hoping you do!

The crucial disadvantage of aggression, competitiveness, and skepticism as national characteristics is that these qualities cannot be turned off at five o'clock.
